

Title / Subject Line: Online Migraine World Summit 2024

The largest worldwide online event for migraine and headache disorders returns March 6-13, 2024.

The 9th annual Migraine World Summit brings together 32 experts from around the world, including doctors, researchers and specialists in the field, who share new treatments, research and strategies to help people improve their migraine and headache conditions.

The Migraine World Summit has eight days that each feature four interviews with international experts who answer key questions about migraine and a wide array of related topics. On the ninth day, there is a live Highlights Webinar. The Summit will give you a better understanding of migraine and greater hope for the future.

How it works:

1. Register: Secure your spot via email registration. Once you've registered, you'll have free access to the Summit from March 6-13.
2. Watch: Each day of the Summit, you'll receive a new link to access four interviews with international experts. You can access that day's lineup for free, starting from 3:00 pm ET (New York time) and continuously for the next 24 hours. It's available to everyone for 24 hours, no matter where you live; you can convert to your time zone here. You can watch the Summit from any computer or mobile device that supports video.
3. Learn: Discover what top doctors, researchers, and psychologists are saying about migraine and how they're caring for patients in their own clinics.

Join more than 150,000 new and returning attendees and watch 32 new interviews to find the answers you need to help better manage migraine and chronic headache. Whether you've just started experiencing migraine or have been living with it for years, there's something for you to learn at the 2024 Migraine World Summit.

Here's a sample of topics in this year's Summit:

- Controlling Chronic Migraine
